Engel Joins Formtek Group of Companies

Itasca, Illinois (November 2003): The Formtek Group of companies which includes Cooper-Weymouth Peterson (CWP), B&K, Dahlstrom, Hill Engineering, Iowa Precision Industries, Lockformer, Rowe, and Yoder announces the addition of Engel Industries to the group.

Engel Industries has over 50 years experience in manufacturing machinery for the HVAC industry. Engel is a custom designer of machinery for roof panels, walk-in cooler panels, gutters, metal studs, window wells, filter frames, furnace wrappers, metal furniture, guard rails, and other custom shapes, complete systems are also manufactured for coil handling, cut-to-length, notching and punching.

Engel's new General Manager, Stuart Williams, has over 20 years experience in the industry.

"We are evaluating and improving our manufacturing process in areas such as new machinery, quality control and redesigning product to make it more serviceable and marketable," Williams said. "We plan to focus on customers and improve operations in a company that has been a long standing player in HVAC and roll forming markets."

With the addition of Engel Industries, the Formtek Group of companies continues to improve their capabilities. Due to the combined accumulated experience, Formtek is a single source provider of the best and broadest productivity solutions available.
